Intended to provide information about health careers and sources of financial support for a college education, the guide also lists information useful for securing financial aid for many other types of training and education. Nine sections provide specific information on health careers; information and scholarships on medical schools and other health professions; Master of Public Health (MPH) Program for American Indians and Alaska Natives; Bureau of Indian Affairs education assistance; tribal scholarships and loans; financial aid from schools; nation-wide scholarships and foundation support; state aid programs; and alternatives to scholarships. An example of the quantity of information included is the second section, which lists 29 organizations offering scholarships to American Indians and others interested in health professions; 14 organizations offering different types of loans; 29 medical schools with programs for Indian students; and the special service of the Medical Minority Applicant Registry, which circulates basic biographical information of minority applicants to any medical school in the United States at no cost. An appendix includes a sample letter requesting scholarship information; a sample resume; a worksheet for determining college costs; an application checklist; and some general words of advice. (EJ)

FORWARD

The Master of Public Health Degree Program for American Indians and Alaska Natives in the School of Public Health, here at the University of California, Berkeley, has been in existence for seven years. During that period we have had 105 students enrolled in our program, with at least one-third of them advocated for and/or supported at eleven other Schools of Public Health around the country. We have had thousands of inquiries since 1971 when we started not only about graduate training in public health but about all sorts of careers. Many of them have been for financial assistance information, not only for graduate study but also for undergraduate work at the junior college or college level. We have been concerned for it is obvious that before there can be a large pool of graduate applicants, there must be first the interest of Indian youth in higher education, and secondly it must be possible for them to achieve it. With a major barrier that of lack of money, we have put together this booklet for students and their parents to investigate sources of financial support for a college education.

If a student wants to go to college, and has enough preparation in high school, he or she will be able to achieve this goal, for there are many, many sources of funds for educational purposes. It will take time to search them; however, they are there waiting for the student and the parents who will make the effort. New sources are always developing. For example, support through Title I of P.L. 94-437, "The Indian Health Care Improvement Act", provides for support for students in high school who are preparing for health careers, for colleges students' stipends and tuitions and for graduate training. We have tried to keep the sources current and reliable as to purpose and address.

Though our program is primarily interested in training for public health careers, the information here on financial assistance is applicable in securing financial aid for many other types of training and education. Other information sources can be secured by writing to; Branch of Higher Education; Bureau of Indian Affairs; 123 Fourth Street, SW; Albuquerque, New Mexico for their "Scholarships for American Indians".

Our special thanks go to Holly Halsey, a Hidatsa-Sioux of the Fort Berthold Reservation, who through her employment as a University of California work-study student revised and completed our fifth edition of EDUCATION ASSISTANCE FOR AMERICAN INDIANS & ALASKA NATIVES.

We hope this is helpful,

INTRODUCTION

WHAT IS FINANCIAL AID?

Financial aid is a term used to describe sources of money which make it possible for you to pay for your college expenses. It is money provided through federal and state government programs, private sources, and from college/university resources. Financial aid is available in various forms: a grant, a scholarship, a loan, or a part-time job. Colleges often combine these forms of aid and offer the student a "financial aid package". Some of the steps in the financial aid application process are tedious and confusing particularly when it comes to filling out application forms, BUT DO NOT GET DISCOURAGED. Start early and plan ahead; most Indian students attending college require some form of financial assistance in order to be able to attend the college or university of their choice. There are many people who are interested in helping you.

BRIEF DESCRIPTIONS OF FINANCIAL AID

Scholarships or Grants - most scholarships do not meet full need and need to be supplemented with other funds. A scholarship may be received both on the basis of financial need and academic achievement, a grant is on the basis of financial need alone.

Loans - you take out the loan in your own name and generally can borrow as much as $1,500 a year up to a total of $5,000 for four years. You do not pay interest while in college under a federally supported program and repayment starts the month after you leave college and extends over a number of years.

College Work/Study - a federal program which provides part-time jobs for students with a demonstrated financial need. Jobs are available on campus or off campus with a public or private non-profit agency. The money earned during the school year and the summer can provide from $600 to $1,000 a year toward your education expenses.

SOURCES OF FINANCIAL AID

Federal Financial Aid Programs - There are five major sources of assistance for college undergraduates financed by the federal government. These are the Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (SEOG), the National Direct Student Loan (NDSL), Federally Insured (or Guaranteed) Student Loan (FISL), the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant (BEOG), and the College Work/Study Program.

State Financial Aid Programs - Sources of information may be your high school or college counselor, your State Scholarship Commission or the Financial Aid Officer at a nearby college. Though States provide assistance indirectly through the financial aid programs of state-supported colleges, many often provide other scholarships and loans. Search these out as well as by writing your State Department of Education.

Private Scholarship Programs - These are often competitive and often require outstanding academic ability. There are some that are restricted competition that are based on race, religion or your parents' occupations, or possibly to a specific state, region or city. There are some earmarked for Indian students and you should not hesitate to apply to as many as possible.

TYPES OF FINANCIAL AID FOR THE GRADUATE LEVEL

The range of financial assistance on the graduate level is very broad. Each type should be weighed in relation to its advantages and disadvantages in light of potential career choices. As an Indian student, you should be aware of and seek out the many types of assistance that are specifically for you as well as the programs available for all students.

The following generalized discriptions are types of financial assistance provided:

Fellowships - Awards ranging in value from a few hundred to perhaps several thousand dollars and requires no service to the institution in return. Fellowships are usually awarded on the basis of merit and are highly competitive.

Teaching Assistantships - Usually provides you with full or partial tuition remission and sometimes a stipend for expenses. Requires the recipient to provide the institution with a specific amount of undergraduate teaching. Teaching assistantships are generally reserved for advanced graduate students who are assigned to discussion sections or fundamental and elementary courses in the discipline. (Some T.A.'s do no more than grade papers, compile bibliographies, or monitor laboratories.)

Research Assistantships - Similar to teaching assistantships in the manner in which financial assistance is provided. The difference is that the student is given basic research assignments in his discipline rather than teaching responsibilities in return for his/her grant. May be closely related to course work and in some instance may be used to meet, in part, requirements of degree programs.

Administrative Internships - financial assistance similar to teaching and research assistantships with regard to the dispensation of funds, but the student is given an assignment to work on a part-time basis, usually as a special assistant to one of the university's administrative officers such as the president, a vice president, the provost, the dean of the graduate school, an associate dean, or the director of admissions. These assistantships are popular assignments for minority students, who may be asked to undertake special minority-related studies for an administrative officer of a university.

Dormitory and Counseling Assistantships - frequently assigned to graduate students in psychology, counseling, and social work to provide valuable work experience. Dormitory assistantships sometimes include room and board in addition to tuition and stipends.

Loans - increasingly been made available in recent years from local banks, governmental agencies, and university sources for graduate study.

GI Bill - provides financial assistance for graduate students who are veterans of the armed forces in the same manner as it does for undergraduates.

Employment - still another way that some students use to finance their graduate studies. Full-time graduate students, however, are the first to admit that it is extremely difficult to hold a job and meet the expectations of professors as well as an employer. You should, therefore, be extremely cautious before taking on both a job and full-time graduate study simultaneously.

SECTION I

HEALTH CAREERS

A BIG PROBLEM AMONG STUDENTS IS HOW TO DECIDE WHAT CAREER YOU WANT TO GO INTO. THE MAIN THING TO REMEMBER IS TO START EARLY; START THINKING ABOUT YOUR LIKES, DISLIKES, SCHOOL SUBJECTS IN WHICH YOU DO WELL, HOBBIES AND OTHER SPECIAL INTERESTS. MAKE A LIST, WRITE DOWN SPECIAL ACTIVITIES AND INTERESTS.

DISCUSS YOUR THOUGHTS WITH YOUR GUIDANCE COUNSELOR, OR ANY ONE WHO HAS EXPERIENCE IN THE FIELD YOU ARE INTERESTED IN, SUCH AS YOUR DENTIST, DOCTOR, OR TEACHER. MOST PEOPLE ARE HAPPY TO TELL YOU ABOUT THE GOOD AND BAD POINTS OF THEIR CAREER.

USE YOUR SCHOOL AND COMMUNITY LIBRARIES, OR WRITE TO NATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS TO FIND ABOUT THE REQUIREMENTS IN THE WAY OF SCHOOLING, EXPERIENCE, ETC., IN THE FIELD YOU ARE INTERESTED IN.

REMEMBER, EVEN AFTER YOU MAKE A DECISION ABOUT YOUR CAREER YOU CAN ALWAYS CHANGE YOUR MIND. SO DON'T WORRY; THE ONLY THING IS THAT NOW YOU HAVE A DIRECTION WHICH YOU CAN FOLLOW.

ON THE FOLLOWING PAGES IS A LISTING OF SOME HEALTH CAREERS, AND SOURCES OF INFORMATION FOR CAREERS IN THE HEALTH FIELDS. FURTHER CAREER INFORMATION IN THE HEALTH FIELDS CAN BE OBTAINED BY WRITING THE INDIAN HEALTH OFFICE NEAREST YOU, (LISTED ON FOLLOWING PAGES), OR BY WRITING TO OUR PROGRAM; MPH PROGRAM FOR AMERICAN INDIANS, SCHOOL OF PUBLIC HEALTH, UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, BERKELEY, CALIFORNIA. GOOD LUCK!

THE INDIAN HEALTH CARE IMPROVEMENT ACT - P.L. 94-437

Scholarships and Extern Programs

Funds have been appropriated for implementation of the Indian Health Care Improvement Act (Public Law 94-437) which includes three programs designed to encourage health professionals to serve American Indians and Alaska Natives. These programs are the:

Health Professions Preparatory Scholarship Program for Indians
Health Professions Scholarship Program
Indian Health Service Extern Program

Public Law 94-437 scholarship will provide opportunities in addition to existing scholarship programs and, thus, will not replace other sources of health profession scholarship support.

(1) Health Professions Preparatory Scholarship Program for Indians:

Provides scholarship grants to Indian students who have completed high school and are presently enrolled or have been accepted for enrollment in a pre-professional (health) education program. The scholarship award includes: transportation, tuition, fees, books, laboratory expenses, monthly stipend of $400, and other necessary education expenses. Examples of individuals who may be eligible for these grants are: a) High school graduates (or equivalent) who need additional training to eliminate educational deficiencies to enroll in a health professions school or in an allied health school, or b) Those who have earned the baccalaureate degree and need additional training to eliminate educational deficiencies in order to enroll in a health professions school, or c) Persons who have been enrolled in a health professions school or allied health professions school, but are no longer enrolled and need additional training to eliminate educational deficiencies to qualify for readmissions to a health professions school.

(2) Health Professions Scholarship Program:

Provides scholarship awards to Indian and other students who have completed high school and are enrolled or have been accepted for enrollment in a health professions school and whose professions are listed for this scholarship program. It is intended that physicians and dentists who will serve in the Indian health, will continue to receive scholarship support primarily through the National Health Professions Education Assistance Act (P.L. 94-484). The Health Professions Scholarship Program (P.L. 94-437) will provide scholarship awards where other sources of scholarship support are non-existant or not sufficient to provide the type and number of health professionals required to meet the needs of the Indian Health Service. The scholarship award include transportation, tuition, books, fees, laboratory expenses, monthly stipend of $400, and other neccessary educational expenses. Additionally, an active duty service obligational of one year for each year the student receives the award (minimum of two-year service obligation) is required. Additionally, there is a $1500 penalty imposed if a student applies and is awarded a scholarship and then refuses to accept the award.

(3) Indian Health Service Extern Program:

Any student who receives a Health Professions Scholarship Program award is entitled to employment in the Indian Health Service Extern Program during non-academic period (up to 120 days during any calendar year). Additionally, any other student enrolled in schools of medicine, osteopathy, dentistry, veterinary medicine, optometry, poiatry, pharmacy, public health, nursing, or allied health, may also participate in the Indian Health Service Extern Program. Students selected for the Extern Program shall receive a salary comparable to that of persons of similar qualifications employed competitively by the Indian Health Service.

Awards to Begin Spring 1978:

The first awards will be for scholarship support during the 1978 Spring term, with the second and third award to be for such support during the 1978 Summer and Fall terms. (Please note that the person must be enrolled or accepted for enrollment in an accredited educational program.)

In order that IHS can forward further program information, it is necessary for them to know specifics - such as where you are located, what health career you are pursuing, and the like. A MASTER'S DEGREE IN PUBLIC HEALTH - WHAT'S IN IT FOR YOU?

A general idea of public health in our Indian communities today, whether it be in the cities or on reservations, would be the understanding and the controlling of factors which affect the health of the Indian populations. The problems of providing health care in this day and age are felt by all - rich and poor, young and old, consumer and provider. It is everyone's problem. Therefore, correcting them constitutes the major contemporary challenge to schools of public health. The mission of a school of public health is to develop and teach the application of the social, administrative, biomedical and environmental sciences to the solution of community health problems. As an Indian student considering a health field, entering a school of public health could be the best direction in creating a better future for the Native People and yourself.

Why have a special program in such an area for American Indians and Alaska Natives? There are relatively few American Indians who have a Master of Public Health degree; however, more and more new legislation such as the Indian Self-Determination Act, and the Indian Health Care Improvement Act calls for trained Indian people in administrative and policy making positions. Individuals who hold MPH degrees work in a variety of settings; they can plan and administer health programs at tribal, county, state or federal levels. They can administer hospitals or work in clinics developing health programs. They can work at policy making levels, or in developing and implementing new legislation that can affect Indian health for years to come.

Having a master's program for Native people in Public Health enables them to specialize in areas such as: Health Administration and Planning, Hospital Administration, Environmental Health Sciences, Public Health Education, Epidemiology, Biostatistics, Nursing Administration, Public Health Nutrition, Alcoholism, Behavioral Sciences, Community Mental Health, Bio-Medical Laboratory Sciences and Maternal and Child Health.

There are seventeen Schools of Public Health in major universities around the country. They are listed on the following page. Requirements are a bachelors degree with relevant undergraduate course work. Support for American Indians and Alaska Natives can be secured through the MPH Program for American Indians and Alaska Natives at the School of Public Health, University of California, Berkeley where students can apply for admission; or requests can be made for support at other Schools of Public Health.

FINANCIAL AID FROM SCHOOLS

EVERY COLLEGE HAS SOME FORM OF FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE AVAILABLE, EITHER IN THE FORM OF SCHOLARSHIP, GRANT, OR LOAN. THE BEST THING TO DO IS TO FIRST DECIDE WHAT SCHOOL YOU ARE INTERESTED IN ATTENDING, AND THEN CONTACT THE FINANCIAL AID OFFICE AT THAT SCHOOL.

REMEMBER, YOU SHOULD APPLY TO MORE THAN ONE SCHOOL TO INSURE ACCEPTANCE, AND YOU SHOULD ALSO CONTACT THE FINANCIAL AID OFFICE AT EACH SCHOOL YOU ARE APPLYING TO. DON'T WORRY ABOUT APPLYING TO MORE THAN ONE SCHOOL, MANY SCHOOLS ALSO WAIVE APPLICATION FEES (YOU DON'T PAY) FOR MINORITY STUDENTS.

THERE ARE ALSO QUITE A FEW SCHOOLS WHICH OFFER SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAMS SPECIFICALLY FOR AMERICAN INDIANS. ON THE FOLLOWING PAGES ARE A LISTING OF SOME OF THESE SCHOOLS, AND THEIR FIELDS OF INTEREST. IF YOU FIND ONE THAT INTERESTS YOU, DON'T HESITATE TO APPLY. SCHOOLS WILL IN MANY CASES ACCEPT STUDENTS WHO DON'T MEET THEIR SCHOLASTIC REQUIREMENTS BUT WHO THEY FEEL WILL DO A GOOD JOB. THEY SOMETIMES GIVE SOME FORM OF TUTORING AND ACADEMIC ASSISTANCE. SO DON'T BE AFRAID, A LITTLE BIT OF EFFORT ON YOUR PART CAN MEAN A GREAT OPPORTUNITY FOR YOUR FUTURE. ALL IT TAKES IS A LITTLE BIT OF TIME.

*UNIVERSITIES WITH NATIVE AMERICAN STUDIES CENTERS

MANY UNIVERSITIES HAVE RECENTLY ESTABLISHED SEPARATE NATIVE AMERICAN STUDIES CENTERS. THESE CENTERS CAN BE USED AS AN EXCELLENT SOURCE OF SCHOLASTIC AND FINANCIAL AID INFORMATION. FOR FURTHER ASSISTANCE, CONTACT THE DIRECTOR OF THE NATIVE AMERICAN STUDIES CENTER OF YOUR CHOICE, AND REQUEST THE INFORMATION YOU ARE INTERESTED IN. The Master's & Doctorate Degree

It is likely that you have heard the term "graduate and professional schools" but you may not know that graduate schools and professional schools, while similar, are not exactly the same thing. Graduate schools offer academic degrees, usually a master' or a doctorate, in academic disciplines. Professional schools are designed to prepare one to enter a specific career profession such as the law, medicine, dentistry or the ministry.

The Master of Arts (M.A. or A.M.) and Master of Science (M.S. or S.M.), commonly called the master's degree, and the Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.), commonly called the doctorate, are the three graduate degrees that students most often attend graduate school to obtain. In certain disciplines, students are awarded masters or doctorates with names such as Master of Music (M.M.), Master of Science in Forestry (M.S.F.), Master of Public Health (M.P.H.), Doctor of Fine Arts (D.F.A.), Doctor of Psychology (Psy.D.). Degrees such as these are generally regarded as the equivalent of the M.A. M.S., or Ph.D. Professional schools also award their own special degrees such as Bachelor of Divinity (B.D.), Doctor of Dental Science or Doctor of Dental Surgery (D.D.S.)

The Ph.D. or its equivalent has become symbolic as a standard representing academic excellence. In fact, the Ph.D. or its equivalent has been a virtual requirement for people who have aspired to careers in college teaching or similar types of academic positions. A large proportion of the people who study for the Ph.D. and other doctorates plan to do research or teaching at a college or university. College teaching is frequently a career objective for the person who enjoys working with ideas and with young scholars and colleagues in exploring and evaluating concepts, hypotheses, and theories. For some people there is a great amount of excitement to be found in scholarly activities that result in questioning, changing, reaffirming, creating and determining the status of organized knowledge on various subjects. For many it is even more exciting when it is done with students whose approaches and perceptions can result in new things to question, new ways to explore, and new understanding of things that are of interest to them.

Here is a listing of more than one hundred master's and doctorate degrees you can study and obtain scholarships for.

Scholarship Committee

Dear Committee Members:

I am a member of the Three Affiliated Tribes of the Fort Berthold Agency, and I am interested in working in the health field. Since I was born and raised on the reservation, I know many of the problems facing the Indian communities - one of which is lack of qualified Indian involvement.

I am planning to enter the University of California at Berkeley, California this Fall 1978. Unfortunately, my funds are very limited, and I am finding it difficult to meet my educational and living expenses.

For these reasons, I am requesting some form of financial assistance from your scholarship fund. Please send any information, including an application form, to me at the above address.

Thank you in advance for your time and consideration. I sincerely hope that my application will be looked upon with favor.

Sincerely,

Joe Skin

P.S. The attached sheet tells you a little about my background.

Date of Birth: November 24, 1956

Place: Garrison, North Dakota

Tribal Affiliation: Three Affiliated Tribes

Education: Parshall Elementary School
Parshall, North Dakota

New Town High School — Date of Graduation: June 10, 1975
New Town, North Dakota

Special Courses: (Other than the usual required subjects)
Introduction into Medicine
Medicine as a Career
Beginning and Advanced First Aid

Work Experience: May 29, 1971 - to August 1971 - Worked as a helper to Dr. James Walsh at the North Side Animal Hospital; Minot, North Dakota. This is only a summer position.

Presently, I am working part-time and on weekends at the PHS Hospital as a special laboratory assistant under Dr. Charles A. Dana.

Special Interests: It seems that I have always had a special interest and facination for the medical field. I always find myself, sometimes without realizing it, thinking about Doctors, Surgeons, Neurosurgeons, Orthopedic Specialists and what it would be like to be one.

Then, by chance, I found a summer job working with a Veterinarian, and by the time I had finished the the first day of work, I knew that I would be a physician. Many people might regard this as a passing thing for someone my age to be so sure of what they want to do for the rest of their life. But, when you know in your heart what you have to do, it doesn't matter.

I know it won't be easy, my parents won't be able to help because they don't have much. But I feel if a person wants something bad enough, and works hard, things will work out.

HOW TO DETERMINE COLLEGE COSTS

There are a few very simple steps that you can use to determine approximately how much it will cost you to go to school.

The first thing to do is to make a list of each college you plan to apply to, obtain their catalogue and see how much the tuition, the cost of dormitory living, etc., will be. Mark these down on a sheet of paper as follows:

1. List of institutions you are considering	_____	_____	_____
2. Tuition & Fees	_____	_____	_____
3. Student's Board & Meals	_____	_____	_____
4. Books & Supplies	_____	_____	_____
5. Personal Items (clothing, laundry, recreation)	_____	_____	_____
6. Medical Expenses	_____	_____	_____
7. Transporation (to and from school, vacations)	_____	_____	_____
8. Students with dependents are given an additional budget allowance	_____	_____	_____
9. Total Budget	_____	_____	_____

Now you have an estimate of how much it will cost to go to school. For a more complete guide to how to determine costs, send away for a free copy of "Meeting College Costs" (published annually); Publications Order Office, College Entrance Examination Board, Box 592, Princeton, New Jersey 08540.

GENERAL WORDS OF ADVICE

* The process of applying for financial aid can be confusing and time-consuming. Just keep in mind that in order to get money for your college education, YOU MUST APPLY FOR IT. To apply early or on time increases your chances of getting a fair financial aid package.

* With the increasing number of Indian students entering college, the demand for Bureau grants also increases. Apply early for BIA or Tribal funds - early means in April or May of the year you are planning to attend college.

* When applying for sources of outside aid, (other than your BIA agency or Tribe), be sure to include at the start of your letter that you are American Indian or Alaska Native.

* Show sincerity of purpose in seeking a higher education; take time when writing and think through what you want to achieve by going to school, and then put it on paper.

* Remember, the application you submit will be all the reviewers will have to tell them about you, your financial need, and goals and aspirations. Lack of complete and relevant information may cause delay and misunderstanding in the review of your application.

* Discuss your goals with a career counselor or an older person who might have the same career goals as yourself, and is already working in the field of your choice. They will be great help in determining what kinds of obstacles to overcome more easily.

* Don't get discouraged about your sources of aid to stay in school. Keep up on the progress of your financial situation through your counselor and financial aid officer. If you're serious enough about getting the degree desired, funds from somewhere will be available to help.
